¹ Investor Class shares of the Fund are not currently offered for purchase. As a result, “Other Expenses” for Investor Class shares have been estimated.

² Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses do not correlate to the Ratio of Expenses to Average Net Assets in the Financial Highlights section of the statutory prospectus, which reflects the operating expenses of the Fund and does not include acquired fund fees and expenses (“AFFE”).

³ Curi Capital, LLC (the “Adviser”) has contractually agreed to reduce its compensation due from and/or assume expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the Fund’s operating expenses (excluding, interest, taxes, brokerage commissions and other transaction costs, expenditures that are capitalized in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, acquired fund fees and expenses, if any, and other extraordinary expenses not incurred in the ordinary course of business) do not exceed 0.60% and 0.35% of the average net assets of the Fund’s Investor Class and Class I, respectively (the “Expense Cap”). The Expense Cap is in effect through April 30, 2027 and cannot be terminated prior thereto without the approval of the Fund’s Board of Trustees. To the extent the Adviser waives its compensation and/or assumes expenses to satisfy the Expense Cap, the Adviser may seek repayment by the Fund of a portion or all of such amounts at any time within three years from the date on which such amounts were waived or assumed, provided that the Fund is able to make the repayment without exceeding the lesser of the expense cap in effect at the time of the waiver/reimbursement or in effect at the time of the repayment.

Example

These Examples are intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds. The first Example assumes that you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods indicated and then redeem all of your shares at the end of those periods. The Examples also assume that your investment has a 5% return each year and that the Fund’s operating expenses remain the same, taking into account the Expense Cap in the first year only. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions your costs would be:

	1 year	3 years
Investor Class	$63	$272
Class I	$38	$193

PORTFOLIO TURNOVER

The Fund pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or “turns over” its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when Fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in annual fund operating expenses or in the Example, affect the Fund's performance. For the period September 22, 2025 (commencement of operations) through December 31, 2025, the Fund's portfolio turnover rate was 1% of the average value of its portfolio.

PRINCIPAL INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

The Fund pursues its investment objective by investing, under normal circumstances, at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings made for investment purposes) in municipal securities that pay interest that is exempt from federal income tax. The Fund also invests, under normal circumstances, at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings made for investment purposes) in fixed income securities that are rated investment grade or equivalent by a nationally recognized statistical rating organization ("NRSRO") or, if a security is unrated, that the Fund's investment adviser considers to be of comparable quality. The investment adviser seeks to invest in federally tax-exempt municipal bond issues that have historically demonstrated lower degrees of credit volatility and consistent payment records compared to other municipal bond issues. Municipal bonds in which the Fund invest include general obligation issues, tax revenue issues, tollway and transportation issues, essential service revenue issues, and pre-refunded issues. The Fund may purchase municipal obligations on a when-issued or delayed delivery basis or enter into forward commitments to purchase municipal obligations. The Fund primarily invests in U.S. dollar denominated securities. The investment adviser intends to maintain in the Fund a minimum average overall portfolio quality rating of Aa3 by Moody's and/or AA- by Standard & Poor's, excluding unrated securities.

In managing the Fund's portfolio, the investment adviser seeks to generally capture the attributes of the ICE BofA 1-12 Year AAA-AA Index (the "ICE BofA Benchmark"), including average effective duration, duration distribution of individual securities, quality, and convexity, while attempting to realize additional returns through sector allocation and security selection. The investment adviser seeks to manage the Fund's portfolio-wide weighted average effective duration typically within +/- 20% of the effective duration of the ICE BofA Benchmark. Under certain market conditions, the Fund's portfolio may have a longer or shorter weighted average effective duration. As of March 31, 2026, the effective duration of the ICE BofA Benchmark was 4.32. The investment adviser seeks to maintain the Fund's portfolio-wide weighted average maturity between one to 12 years. The Fund may invest in other investment companies, such as mutual funds and exchange-traded funds.

PRINCIPAL RISKS

As with any mutual fund, there is no guarantee that the Fund will achieve its objective. The Fund's share price fluctuates, which means you could lose money by investing in the Fund. The Fund is not a complete investment program and should be considered only as part of an investment portfolio. The principal risks of investing in the Fund are summarized below:

- Market Risk — This is the risk that the price of a security will fall due to changing economic, political or market conditions that are not specifically related to a particular company. Local, regional or global events such as war, acts of terrorism, the spread of infectious illness or other public health issues, recessions, disruptions, delays or strains on global supply chains, tariffs, trade wars, natural disasters, or other events could have a significant impact on the Fund and its investments. The market value of a security or instrument also may decline because of factors that affect a particular asset class, sector, sub-sector, or group of industries to which the Fund is exposed, such as bond market stress and volatility, or labor shortages, increased production costs and competitive conditions within a sector or industry. The risk would be greater if any of the categories of securities that the Fund emphasizes fell out of favor with the market.
- Fixed Income Securities Risk. Fixed income securities are subject to the risk that the issuer may not make principal and/or interest payments when they are due. Fixed income securities may be subject to credit, interest rate, call or prepayment, and extension risks which are more fully described below.
 - Credit Risk. An issuer may not make timely payments of principal and interest. A credit rating assigned to a particular fixed income security is essentially an opinion of the NRSRO as to the credit quality of an issuer and may prove to be inaccurate. Valuations can be affected by changing levels of credit spreads over the comparable U.S. Treasury risk-free rates. Changes in the market's perceptions of the issuer's financial strength and ability to make such payments will cause the price of that security to fluctuate.

- Interest Rate Risk. The value of fixed income securities fluctuates with changes in interest rates. Typically, a rise in interest rates causes a decline in the value of fixed income securities owned by the Fund. Conversely, if rates fall, the value of the fixed income securities generally increases.
- Call or Prepayment Risk. During periods of declining interest rates, a bond issuer may “call” or repay its higher yielding bonds before their maturity dates and the Fund may have to replace them with securities having a lower yield. This will reduce the Fund’s yield.
- Extension Risk. When interest rates rise, certain obligations may be paid off by the obligor more slowly than anticipated, causing their effective duration to lengthen, their price sensitivity to future interest rate changes to increase, and the value of these securities to possibly fall.
- Management Risk — The Fund is subject to management risk because it is an actively managed investment portfolio that invests in securities that may not necessarily be included in the Fund’s benchmark. The Adviser utilizes the investment strategies discussed above in making investment decisions for the Fund, and the Adviser may misjudge the risk and/or return potential of a security which can result in a loss to the Fund or significant underperformance relative to the Fund’s benchmark or similar funds in the marketplace. Individual fixed income securities selected by the Adviser may decline in value or not increase in value, even when the bond market in general is rising.
- Municipal Securities Risk. The municipal securities market is volatile and can be significantly affected by adverse tax, legislative or political changes and the financial condition of the issuers of municipal securities. Budgetary constraints of local, state, and federal governments upon which the issuers may be relying for funding may also impact municipal securities. In addition, changes in the financial condition of an individual municipal insurer can affect the overall municipal market, and market conditions may directly impact the liquidity and valuation of municipal securities.
- Tax Risk. The Fund has elected, qualified, and intends to continue to qualify for each taxable year as a “regulated investment company” under Subchapter M of Subtitle A, Chapter 1, of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the “Code”) and intends each year to qualify and be eligible to be treated as such, so that it generally will not be subject to U.S. federal income tax on its net investment income or net short-term or long-term capital gains that are distributed (or deemed distributed, as described below) to shareholders

The Fund’s investment strategy will potentially be limited by its intention to continue qualifying for treatment as a regulated investment company and can limit the Fund’s ability to continue qualifying as such. The tax treatment of certain of the Fund’s investments under one or more of the qualification or distribution tests applicable to regulated investment companies is uncertain. An adverse determination or future guidance by the Internal Revenue Service (the “IRS”) or a change in law might affect the Fund’s ability to qualify or be eligible for treatment as a regulated investment company.

If, in any year, the Fund were to fail to qualify for treatment as a regulated investment company under the Code and were ineligible to or did not otherwise cure such failure, the Fund would be subject to tax on its taxable income at corporate rates and, when such income is distributed, shareholders would be subject to further tax on such distributions to the extent of the Fund’s current or accumulated earnings and profits.

To qualify to pay exempt-interest dividends, which are treated as items of interest excludable from gross income for federal income tax purposes, at least 50% of the value of the total assets of the Fund must consist of obligations exempt from federal income tax as of the close of each quarter of the Fund’s taxable year. If the proportion of taxable investments held by the Fund exceeds 50% of the Fund’s total assets as of the close of any quarter of the Fund’s taxable year, the Fund will not for that taxable year satisfy the general eligibility test that otherwise permits it to pay exempt-interest dividends.

Municipal securities may decrease in value during time when federal income tax rates are falling. As such, the value of the Fund's investments and its net asset value may be adversely affected by changes in tax rates and policies. Because interest income from municipal securities is normally not subject to regular federal income taxation, the attractiveness of municipal securities in relation to other investment alternatives is affected by changes in federal income tax rates or changes in the tax-exempt status of interest income from municipal securities. This could in turn affect the Fund's net asset value and ability to acquire and dispose of municipal securities at desirable yield and price levels. Income from municipal securities held by the Fund could be declared taxable because of, among other things, unfavorable changes in tax laws, adverse interpretations by the IRS, or noncompliant conduct of a municipal security issuer or other party. Additionally, the Fund is not a suitable investment for individual retirement accounts, for other tax-exempt or tax-deferred accounts or for investors who are not sensitive to the federal income tax consequences of their investments.

- Inflation Risk. Inflation presents the risk that the present value of income from investments will be less in the future because inflation decreases the value of money.
- Defaulted/Distressed Securities Risk. Although the Fund invests in investment grade rated securities, a security rated investment grade, could experience a downgrade and become distressed or default. Distressed securities may not produce income while they are outstanding and may require the Fund to bear certain extraordinary expenses in order to protect and recover its investment. Distressed securities are at high risk for default.
- Forward Commitment, When-Issued, and Delayed Delivery Risk. Such transactions subject the Fund to market risk because the value or yield of a security at delivery may be more or less than the purchase price or yield generally available when delivery occurs, and subject the Fund to counterparty risk because the Fund relies on the buyer or seller, as the case may be, to consummate the transaction. These transactions also have a leveraging effect on the Fund because the Fund commits to purchase securities that it does not have to pay for until a later date, which increases the Fund's overall investment exposure and, as a result, its volatility. The Fund may purchase municipal obligations on a when-issued or delayed delivery basis or enter into forward commitments to purchase municipal obligations.
- Liquidity Risk. Certain fixed income securities may be difficult or impossible to sell at the time and price that the investment adviser would like to sell. The investment adviser may have to lower the price, sell other securities or forego an investment opportunity, any of which may have a negative effect on the management or performance of the Fund.
- Unrated Bond Risk. Unrated bonds determined by the investment adviser to be of comparable quality to rated bonds that the Fund may otherwise purchase may pay a higher interest rate than the rated bonds, but they are subject to a greater risk of illiquidity and price changes because less public information is typically available regarding unrated bonds or issuers compared to rated bonds or issuers.
- Other Investment Companies Risk. In addition to the Fund's fees and expenses, you will indirectly bear the fees and expenses charged by underlying investment companies in which the Fund invests through reduced performance.
- Valuation Risk. The fixed income securities held by the Fund are generally valued using prices provided by approved pricing services or, in some cases, using prices provided by dealers or the valuation committee of the investment adviser using fair valuation methodologies. The prices used by the Fund may be different from the prices used by other mutual funds or from the prices at which the Fund's fixed income securities are actually bought and sold. The prices of the Fund's fixed income securities may be subject to frequent and significant change and will vary depending on the information that is available to the party providing the price.
- New Fund Risk. The Fund is new and has a limited operating history. The Fund may not attract sufficient assets to achieve or maximize investment and operational efficiencies.
- Modeling Risk. The Adviser uses analytical modeling techniques to structure the Fund's investment portfolio. These models rely on inputs from third-party sources, and incorrect, imprecise, or stale data or assumptions used in the models can lead to flawed output which, if relied upon in managing the Fund's portfolio may negatively affect Fund performance. The success of modeling techniques also depends on management's use of the output in making portfolio management decisions, and these decisions might not produce the intended results even when based on sound modeling techniques.
