- The above preliminary estimates are based on data as of October 30, 2026. The Net Investment Income estimates are based on data projected through December 30, 2026.

- The above estimates provided are preliminary and are subject to change. Actual capital gain distribution amounts will be based on gains and losses realized through October 30, 2026. Tax adjustments may cause losses to be deferred or may cause unrealized amounts to be treated as realized. Changes in shares outstanding may cause per share amounts to vary.

- Short-term capital gains are taxable as ordinary income. The estimates in this chart reflect calculations for Ordinary Income, however not Qualified Dividends. Calculations for Qualified Dividends, if applicable, will appear on your 2026 Form 1099-DIV.

- The RMB Funds listed above are expected to pay these capital gain distributions on December 16, 2026, to all shareholders of record as of December 15, 2026. The price for each fund will be adjusted downward on the business day following the record date to reflect the amount of the total distribution.

Mutual fund investing involves risk; principal loss is possible.

Each Fund's investment objectives, risks, charges, and expenses must be considered carefully before investing. Read the prospectus carefully before investing. For specific tax-related questions, please consult your tax advisor for advice.

The Funds may invest in foreign securities, which are subject to the risks of currency fluctuations, political and economic instability and differences in accounting methods. Those risks are greater for emerging market countries. The fund invests in smaller companies, which involve additional risks such as limited liquidity and greater volatility. Changes affecting a particular sector or region of the world economy in which the fund has invested may have significant effects on the portfolio.
